What We Do

LMIS is a workforce development and educational opportunity-focused research, evaluation, and consulting organization. Located within the Center for Urban Research at the CUNY Graduate Center, we are comprised of expert researchers with diverse backgrounds and skillsets, from economists to sociologists to political scientists. We support other mission-driven groups by helping them to harness the power of research insights and labor market data to inform best-practice interventions, with and through engagement of their client communities. We are dedicated to supporting social good and connecting individuals and communities to opportunity, and partner with nonprofits, government agencies, educational institutions, philanthropies, employers, and programs that share this goal. We offer:

- Quantitative labor market analyses
- Qualitative reporting to give voice to community members, stakeholders, employers, and research participants
- Trainings on how to understand and use labor market information
- Case studies describing organizations, institutions, programs, and social services through rich, qualitative data collection
- Economic impact analyses
- Consulting on using research for social good/justice
- Partnering on workforce development events and forums

Who We Work With

- CUNY central office and individual colleges
- NYC DOE career & college readiness programs
- NYC Mayor's Office
- NYC agencies
- NYS Dept. of Labor
- US Dept. of Labor
- Nonprofits
- Philanthropy
- Organized labor
- Private businesses

Who We Serve

- Jobseekers
- Employers
- Workforce intermediaries
- Students
- Educators
- Education administrators
- Local, state, and federal government
- Nonprofit college success and workforce development

Why Us?

- Content expertise, creativity, passion, and access drive our work.
- LMIS embodies decades of combined experience in workforce policy and labor market research.
- We have an expansive network of subject matter experts, service providers, and employers.
- We are situated within CUNY's premier doctoral granting institution. This allows us to call upon the expertise of our colleagues in academia and to staff teams of expert researchers.

LMIS is celebrating over a decade of service in the field. We were founded in 2008 as a joint venture between the former NYC Workforce Investment Board and the City University of New York (CUNY). We have since evolved into a free-standing entity within CUNY, broadening our reach to a wide range of workforce and education stakeholders, locally and throughout the U.S.

We are the only organization in New York City fully dedicated to collecting, analyzing, and applying labor market insights to strengthening the workforce and increasing equity and opportunity.

Visit our website to learn more:
www.gc.cuny.edu/lmis

LMIS at The Graduate Center, CUNY • 365 Fifth Avenue, Suite 6202, New York, NY 10016
nyclmis@gc.cuny.edu 212.817.2031 www.gc.cuny.edu/lmis

New York City
Labor Market Information Service

Responsive ↗ Innovative ↗ Original

Products and Services	Examples
Career Maps Understanding how people actually progress in their careers—and what it takes to get ahead—can help prepare people for labor market success. Our signature, data-driven approach reveals a reality-based, user-friendly road map for navigating careers.	↗ Home health aides ↗ Cooks and chefs ↗ Bookkeeping ↗ Network Technicians
Program Alignment How closely do program offerings match what employers want? We help educators and trainers understand their graduates' labor market prospects and identify ways to better align their offerings.	↗ Top jobs ↗ Top skills ↗ Top employers
Industry Reports Industries support a range of jobs, and the nature of the work can vary by occupation, employer, setting, location, and more. To help people plan for the future, we break it all down and look ahead.	↗ Health information ↗ Travel & accommodation ↗ Green/Clean Energy sector ↗ Transportation
Training on LMI We work with a range of audiences to familiarize them with readily available sources of labor market information. Our trainings help them identify, navigate, and interpret data.	↗ National, state, & local sources of information ↗ Online job postings/real-time employer demand data
Job Reports We release periodic snapshots of the labor market for New York City and its five boroughs. These reports draw from the most up-to-date sources on jobs, employers, workers, and more.	↗ Unemployment ↗ Employment ↗ Talent requirements
Strategic Consulting & Evaluation Services Beyond this menu of products and services, we offer custom data-driven insights, materials, and guidance to policymakers and service-providers in philanthropy, education, and workforce. We also consult on logic model design and manage full-service customized, third-party research and evaluation projects.	↗ Workforce impact studies ↗ Program market studies ↗ Surveys & focus groups

LMIS at The Graduate Center, CUNY • 365 Fifth Avenue, Suite 6202, New York, NY 10016
nyclmis@gc.cuny.edu 212.817.2031 www.gc.cuny.edu/lmis