

The M.A. Program in in Digital Humanities

- Explore humanities research questions using a wide variety of computational and digital tools in a collaborative, interdisciplinary setting

- Work alongside artists, librarians, programmers, readers, poets, curators, historians, teachers, and philosophers—all using cutting-edge digital methods to explore the world of culture and history.

- Join a diverse and growing network of digital humanities practitioners at organizations and institutions across New York City.

- Engage in the digital humanities from one of three areas of focus: textual analysis, data visualization and mapping, and digital pedagogy.

- Explore the cultural and intellectual offerings of New York City through internships and data-focused special projects.

- All applicants for all master's programs at The Graduate Center will be considered automatically for Dean's Merit Scholarships.
