M.S. in Quantitative Methods in the Social Sciences

Be Future-Proof

- Become an expert at analyzing big data to address pressing policy and social science issues.

- Learn from top faculty from throughout CUNY whose expertise spans sociology, political science, public health, educational psychology, and more.

- As a public institution, we offer a world-class education at a fraction of the cost of comparable universities.

- The curriculum is 30 credits. Students can tailor their learning to their interests through four optional concentrations.

- Our midtown Manhattan location and flexible class schedules make the program convenient for busy students.

- The program is designed for experienced professionals and recent college graduates.

- Graduates are set to excel in public policy, marketing, social services, education, technology, health care, and more. They are also well prepared for doctoral study.

- All applicants for all master's programs at The Graduate Center will be considered automatically for Dean's Merit Scholarships. For more information, see www.gc.cuny.edu/mascholarships.
