Description

Hi Ray,

On the homepage of the NYCDH site (http://nycdh.org), there is a link in the welcome text widget that goes to http://dhweek.nycdh.org). As you can see in the attached screenshot, it is an http link, but when I mouse over it in Chrome, it shows as an https link. And when I click on it, it goes, strangely, to a ws.gc.cuny.edu login site, which suggests a redirection problem. do you have any sense of what is going on here?

Hi Matt,

I'm afraid I cannot replicate the problem over here. Does this only occur within the campus network?

This is happening for me at home. I can check from the campus network later today. Jesse and Kimon, are you seeing this?

FYI, I am on a Mac and using Chrome. I just realized that I am using the HTTPS Everywhere extension on Chrome -- https://chrome.google.com/webstore/detail/https-everywhere/gcbommkclmclpchllfjekcdonpmejbdp . Perhaps that is why I am seeing this?

I am able to click through to the correct destination from work. My page is showing the non https link on hover over

Yes, this is the cause due to our problem with not having a wildcard SSL certificate (what we were talking about on Tuesday).

I'll add a ticket about converting NYCDH's subdomain install to a subdirectory one now so we can track it and do something about it after DH Week.
