

CUNY Academic Commons - Feature #1187

Personal Docs

2011-09-20 07:57 PM - Matt Gold

Status:	Rejected	Start date:	2011-09-20
Priority name:	Normal	Due date:
Assignee:	Boone Gorges	% Done:	0%
Category name:	BuddyPress Docs	Estimated time:	0.00 hour
Target version:	Future release
Description
Just ran across this situation: I want to collaborate with someone on a doc, but it seems silly to have to create a whole group just so that we can work together on this single document (especially as our group-creation process has grown into a 7 step process). It would be neat if I could create a document and then share it with another person through some GDocs like system, which would send them a notification that I had shared it with them and then allow them to edit it with me. I think you've talked about something similar to this at one point. At any rate, this is not a huge deal, but I wanted to note it while I had it in mind.

History

#1 - 2011-09-20 08:01 PM - Boone Gorges

See also <https://github.com/boonebgorges/buddypress-docs/issues/42>

#2 - 2015-11-09 05:45 PM - Boone Gorges

- Category name changed from BuddyPress (misc) to BuddyPress Docs

This exists in Docs, but we have it disabled on the Commons (we force all Docs interfaces into Group wrappers).

#3 - 2015-11-12 12:58 AM - Matt Gold

- Status changed from Assigned to Rejected

As users don't seem to be clamoring for this, I think we can reject. I do wonder, though, whether/how Social Paper might answer this need