Description
I don't see a pattern at a glance, but on the current set of featured courses, the nav only appears for about 2 out of 5 courses. https://commons.gc.cuny.edu/courses/# It probably has something to do with z-index?

Finally managed to reproduce this on the production site. Looks like the problem is that the slider library uses z-index:2 for the active element, which was causing a race condition of sorts with the nav elements. Fixed in
