- Status changed from New to In Progress

I've removed the 'Create New Paper' link from the Papers Directory, admin bar and profile nav:

- <https://github.com/cuny-academic-commons/cac/commit/3f5e1d11f2dc69e7af44be603dbb1b735ece2b5b>
- <https://github.com/cuny-academic-commons/cac/commit/93451039442ed16d75d031e62904c74d58cb397e>

TODO: I haven't added a blurb on the Papers Directory denoting the deprecation of Social Paper yet.

#2 - 2020-07-15 11:22 AM - Boone Gorges

I've made a first pass at editing the intro text on the Papers directory. I removed text about creating new papers in the first paragraph, and added the "note" afterward. Does anyone have suggestions for improved language?

As part of this ticket, I'll also remove the 'Papers' top-level nav item.

Thanks Boone, I read through the language edits. The changes all seem good to me. Do we want to make a note about deprecation on the user-level My Papers directories too, like here?

Ah yes, maybe you're right. Can I use the same 'Note' text?

Should we also be hiding the Papers submenu from the Commons Profile? Or perhaps hiding it conditionally - only show it when the user actually has Papers?

Same note text seems fine to me. For reference, this is that text:

Note: We are phasing out the Papers feature. Existing papers can be viewed, but new papers cannot be created.

I'd be good with conditionally hiding the Papers submenu. Definitely simplifies things for most users, while not disrupting for legacy ones.

Sounds good. <https://github.com/cuny-academic-commons/cac/commit/3547d4b536c22a2f440ee0029c39c15ecbb155e1> removes the Papers nav for users who are not the authors of, or followers of, at least one Paper.

In <https://github.com/cuny-academic-commons/cac/commit/4de0392743f97f8cec8159d2079371862c41e493> I've added the 'Note' language to the Paper tab on user profiles. I've lazily done it in JavaScript so that I didn't have to hack Social Paper itself, or override a template file.

Sounds good to me, too.
