

CUNY Academic Commons - Bug #13088

Commons 1.17 creating group + site

Status:	Rejected	Start date:	2020-07-26
Priority name:	Normal	Due date:
Assignee:	Jeremy Felt	% Done:	0%
Category name:	Site cloning	Estimated time:	0.00 hour
Target version:	1.17.0
Description
In doing the documentation I notice issues with creating a group + site. If you are creating a new site, everything is fine, but when creating a group and an existing site or when cloning a site, it seems that the radio buttons are not displaying the correct pathways.

Scott, could you please provide screenshots or more details that spell out "radio buttons are not displaying the correct pathways"?

Jeremy, if you can't get to this by midday on Monday, I'll hop in and take a look. Would be nice to clear it up before the Tuesday release.

I'll have some time tomorrow morning to adjust things as needed. I don't think anything should be that far off to require a bunch of work.

Scott - I've attached the screens that I see when I go through the process. Can you expand on which radio buttons or sections seem off?

Just a guess, but it could be that something's triggering a JS error elsewhere on the page, causing the radio button click callback not to be fired. Scott, if you get a chance, please share details on your OS/browser. Also, if you could open your JS console and reproduce your error, then look to see if there are errors in the console.

Hi - What I did was clear the cache and now it seems to work fine. Sorry for the alarm.

#6 - 2020-07-27 01:56 PM - Boone Gorges

- Status changed from New to Rejected

No need for apologies, Scott - the best bugs are the ones that aren't :-D
