Upgraded to BP 1.6-beta1 in <https://github.com/castiron/cac/commit/3be6bb959dc4cf6d554093a595f952ccf7aa73d0>

Of course you're in the best position to judge this, but I wonder a bit about upgrading to a version still in beta. What are your thoughts?

For one thing, this is targeted for 1.4. It's likely that BP 1.6 will be out before CAC 1.4.

For another, tagging something as alpha vs beta vs RC vs final is a matter of judgment. Sadly, tagging it 'final' does not mean there's no bugs in it. 'Final' is a way of saying that regular users can be quite certain that it'll be working fine now. I am not a regular user.

- Status changed from Assigned to Resolved

In <https://github.com/castiron/cac/commit/afa44b2311d2f96ad8448bdc1fc1856083b575ff>, I switch us to the 1.6 branch, which is, at the moment, equivalent to 1.6 stable release. Marking the ticket Resolved.
