Description

Hey André. Just a few minutes ago, all of our dev addresses started pointing toward "Welcome to Test Repository - eprints Repository Software":

<http://cdev.gc.cuny.edu>

<http://cbox.gc.cuny.edu>

<http://dev.cbox.gc.cuny.edu>

I call DNS shenanigans :)

Noticed because one of the CBox theme devs is doing some setup on dev.cbox at the moment.

I'm installing eprints for the institutional repository project on the same box and it seems like the eprints software is grabbing the entire namespaces for some reason. Give me a couple minutes to troubleshoot....

Hee. No problem, André - just so you're aware.

Ok, should be good now. The SSL config files provided by default weren't really meant for a host with multiple vhosts...

Awesome. Merci beaucoup.
