

CUNY Academic Commons - Feature #2355

Set up cbox.org

Description
I've set up cbox.org with the same nameserver settings as commonsinbox.org. Pending agreement from the team, I think we should set up cbox.org as the main URL for our Commons In A Box site (currently commonsinbox.org). Let's wait a day or two to see whether any members of the team object, and then if not, let's make cbox.org the main URL. I think that everything just needs to be set up on the server/dashboard side.

When I visit cbox.org, I see a white screen. How is the domain currently set up? ping shows me that it goes to the correct IP, but I don't see anything in httpd.conf that suggests that it should work. André, is this in your domain?

Boone, a reminder that André (sadly) is no longer at the GC :(

Attached is a screenshot of what's on the host records; anything I need to change there?

If we need to raise a ticket with the GC temporary sys admins, please let me know.

Also, here are the settings on commonsinbox.org

OK, I wasn't sure of the effective date.

Yes. Because I don't have root access, we'll need someone to create a vhost entry for cbox.org before moving forward.

Okay - I've made the request and will let you know what I hear.

Okay, IT has resolved this -- cbox.org now redirects to commonsinbox.org. Is that the way we want it, or do we want cbox.org to be the default domain?

Thanks, Matt.

The way they've set it up seems to be a bit off. Requests to `cbox.org/foo` are redirecting to `commonsinbox.orgfoo` - the slash after the `.org` is not being added. I tried fixing this with an `.htaccess` rule, but it looks like the change is happening at the level of apache config, so it's out of my control.

Is that the way we want it, or do we want `cbox.org` to be the default domain?

The latter will mean a fair amount of work to rewrite all addresses in the database and change the necessary WP configuration. But it's your call.

Okay - pinged IT on the first issue. We can leave the second as-is.

Looks like redirects are occurring as they should. If we want to switch the primary URL to `cbox.org` at some point, let me know and I'll draw up a plan.
