Description

I've noticed a weird bug: when a fellow member accepts a friendship request, I see a notification in my BP Admin bar. But for some reason, it always seems to display the notification of the last person who accepted a friendship request, even after I click on the notification and visit the user's profile.

I've checked this on multiple computers/browsers/OS's, and I've also done hard refreshes to try and rid myself of the persistent notification.

NOT a big priority.

There seems to be some doubt expressed in that ticket as to whether it's really a duplicable problem . . .

Just noticed this happening again with a new friendship accepted notification that won't clear. Boone, has there been any movement on this issue within BP?

Noticing a recurrence of this with our most recent upgrade. Any news?

#13 - 2011-11-30 07:45 AM - Boone Gorges

Nothing that I've heard of.

#14 - 2014-05-01 09:20 AM - Boone Gorges

- Status changed from Assigned to Rejected

- Target version deleted (Future release)

I haven't heard of recurrences of this issue (either here or on the linked BP ticket) so I'm going to close this one. (And in fact, it's likely that the whole issue is no longer valid, since the Notifications refactoring of BP 1.9.) If more issues arise, please reopen with details.
