Description
The WP Post to PDF plugin was recently added to the Commons. It creates PDFs that have a header and a default logo which on a single site is easy to change. But on the Commons, members do not have access to the folder where the image needs to be uploaded to (...wp-content/uploads/wp-post-to-pdf-logo.png). I know that this issue has been raised by Kimon Keramidas on the plugin's support site - http://wordpress.org/support/topic/header-location-2 - but no solution so far. I was wondering if, in the meantime, we could replace the default image with some form of the CUNY Academic Commons logo? The default logo, I think is going to keep most members from using the plugin. Or if there is a better solution... The article in the Codex (http://codex.commonsc.gc.cuny.edu/2013/07/21/post-to-pdf-plugin/) shows what the generated pdfs look like with the default logo. Pretty unappealing...

I've replaced the default logo with the Commons logo. Let me know what you think, Scott.

Thanks Boone - I just tested it and it works great. I will change the documentation as well.
