Description
We are moving towards liveness for two journal sites and would like to point domains at the Commons.
Here are the new domains and the existing commons sites:
jadtjournal.org -> jadt.commonsgc.cuny.edu
europeanstages.org -> europeanstages.commonsgc.cuny.edu
I have pointed those domains to 146.96.128.200 as we have in the past with preludenyc.org and thesegalcenter.org
Should I do anything else?

Matt, neither of these appear to be working. When I attempt to map the domains and then visit them, I get a 403 Forbidden error. Could you check back with IT to make sure that (a) the vhosts are correctly configured and (b) the Apache config has been reloaded? Thanks.

Okay -- checking back in . . .

Not to nag, just to confirm what Boone is saying, the domains are taking me to the site home page, but once I start going to internal pages it reverts to jadt.commonsgc.cuny.edu or europeanstages.commonsgc.cuny.edu

Thanks -- I wrote back to IT and will report back when the URL is ready to re-test. Thanks for your patience!

From IT: "Please map these 2 domains again in wordpress. Let me know if the errors are still there."

Just going through some older domain mapping tickets.

This appears to be resolved now.
