Description

Hi Scott,

I'd like us to create a page on the Commons that highlights publications that are using the Commons as a publishing space. See what the MLA Commons does here - http://commons.mla.org/publications/

I'd say we should follow the MLA model but perhaps include a screenshot of each publication

(if I've already asked you to do this in the past and you've done it already, please let me know!)

Thank you

Hi Matt -
I created a page on the Commons News Blog - but can move it to wherever.  Here is a link with the journals I could think of.  Let me know if this is what you envisioned, and of any changes.  Also, did I miss any?

Thanks, Scott. Yes, I think we should make this a page on the Commons. Maybe, for now, we can slot it under the About page, titling it Publications. Please let me know whether you need additional privileges to create the page and thank you for your help.

Hi Matt - I transferred the page over to the Commons and made it a child of the "About" page.  But it still doesn't show up.  I think someone with access to the Appearance>>Menu option probably needs to add it to the menu.
