Boone, can you please send Laura an sql export of the site content? Laura, do you need images, etc.?

Laura, can you please leave an email address where we can send this to you?

Is there a reason why this has to be a SQL export? It will be much easier to spin up a copy of the JITP site from a WP-formatted export, which can be generated at Dashboard > Tools > Export. Then, during import, you'll have the ability to import attachments as well (they'll be fetched dynamically from the live site).

Sorry -- an export like the one you describe would be perfect -- I just thought that very process produces a sql file. My bad
