Description
I have merged the Help & Support site into http://codex.commonsgc.cuny.edu/ . Currently, I established a redirect on http://help.commonsgc.cuny.edu/ .
Can you change the official link to http://codex.commonsgc.cuny.edu/ - this is no rush - but it probably should be done. Thanks.

Hi Scott - I assume this request was for me?

In <https://github.com/cuny-academic-commons/cac/commit/a0217416beca27f1ec963dd7ebee7a53610e8748> I changed the href from 'help.commonsgc.cuny.edu' to 'codex.commonsgc.cuny.edu' in three places on the toolbar:

- CUNY Academic Commons > Help
- Top-level Help link
- "Visit our help page" after clicking top-level help link

I haven't changed the text anywhere - are we sticking with Help instead of Codex?

Hi Scott - I'm going to close this ticket to get the milestone clear. If you need any code-level changes, please feel free to reopen. Thanks!
