Description
I understand that this may already be a known issue. A user writes: "I am trying to add a quick link to my profile but, though it says the name (heatherwright) is available it will not save it. I'm not sure if there is a bug or if I am doing something wrong. I typed in the name, waited until it said available, and then clicked save changes. I have tried it a few different times (on two different browsers) and still nothing. " Please let me know when solved and I'll update the user. Thanks! - Marilyn

Thanks for reporting this, Marilyn. It turned out that recent changes in BuddyPress meant that we were not saving the new link early enough. I had to debug this on the live server, so the fix is live (and here <https://github.com/cuny-academic-commons/cac/commit/af6811b023b252b31d70338dc6e01643b2815a0d>). Could I ask you to verify, and then to let me know what you find?

Happy to report that the fix works Boone! The user tried again and had no problems.
