Description

At the CAT meeting today, a member came up to tell me that he had just had just received notice that a friendship request had been accepted. The problem is that he had no idea who the other person was, and he says that he did not make the request.

There is a small possibility that he somehow inadvertently hit "Add Friend," but that seems somewhat unlikely in this case -- the member was mystified by the occurrence and seemed to have no idea who the other person was.

I can communicate personal details through email; perhaps we can see when the FR was submitted?

I think that we should investigate this to the extent we can, but I don't know that we'll find anything. If that turns out to be the case, we can keep our eyes out for similar issues.

For the case in question, the database shows that the reporter initiated a friend request at 16:36 on Dec 10 2010. Nothing else looks unusual.
