Description
Hello,
The JITP site (https://jitp.commons.gc.cuny.edu) has a strange issue where featured posts in our "Short Form Pieces" section are not displaying uniformly. The posts should appear three across on each row (two rows total). Instead, one post is on a third row, leaving an empty space in the second row (screenshot attached). I have tried to fix this issue in the past but did not make any progress. Any suggestions would help tremendously!
Thank you!
Best, Laura

Hi Laura - The first of these items ("Reflecting on...") is a few pixels higher than others in the row, which means that the next page in the document flow for the floated 4th item is directly to the right of the first, and under the 2nd. You can work around this by enforcing a minimum height on all the elements:

```
section#featured .featured-articles article {
    min-height: 350px;
}
```
