Description
A user, Bijan Kimiagar [mailto: bjankimiagar@gmail.com], requests
"I found the plugin, Email before download (https://wordpress.org/plugins/email-before-download/screenshots/[wordpress.org]) , but it uses a shortcode, and I am unclear if short codes work if they are embedded in a table that I create using TablePress."
Is this possible? Thanks!

I just ran some tests, and it appears that TablePress does render shortcodes inside of table cells. Does that mean we should install the plugin?

Boone -

Matt told me to tell the user: "We can install if needed."

Will it simply show as available after that? Thanks!

- Target version set to 1.9.15

I've added email-before-download to the codebase

<https://github.com/cuny-academic-commons/cac/commit/016280cc099b58b0dc8236370261f19378f78106>

It will be available for activation after the release on the 11th.
