Description
Michael Carlisle is working to transfer a site over to the Commons, and as part of the move, he has to transfer over a few hundred sample syllabi. What are your thoughts, Boone, about a safe way to do this?

The Flash version of the WP media uploader allows mass uploads. That's probably the best option, because it will create all the metadata.

If that doesn't work, let me know and we can work out a one-time manual upload.

Thanks, Boone. Michael, please update this ticket to give us your thoughts.

I didn't think about the Flash uploader doing multiple files. That'll work. If there's an issue with a certain file type being blocked, that'll be a different ticket. Thanks!
